Who Are We?

The Institute of Applied Psychology is part of the Faculty of Social and Economic Sciences at Comenius University in Bratislava, a prestigious institution known for its high academic standards and innovative approach to psychology education. We focus on applied psychology, combining scientific research with practical applications to prepare students for real-world challenges.

Our institute offers a dynamic and supportive academic environment where students engage in cutting-edge research, hands-on learning, and international collaborations. We emphasize critical thinking, student-centered learning, and evidence-based practice, ensuring that our graduates are ready for successful careers in psychology and related fields.

Why Choose Us?

Prestigious Rankings – We are the only university in Slovakia with a psychology program ranked by prestigious global agencies. Our Psychology program is ranked 501st-600th by the 2024 Times Higher Education by Subject and 401st-500th by the 2023 ARWU Global Rankings of Academic Subjects.

A Tradition of Excellence – Since 2002, we've been educating students in all areas of psychology. We may be a small faculty, but we have a big heart! Our students come from across Slovakia and from around the world, creating a vibrant and diverse community.

Hands-on Learning – Our psychology program bridges theory and practice, ensuring students gain real-world experience from day one. We focus on applicability, ensuring that students gain practical experience through internships and real-life projects. Our students have completed internships at more than 150 organizations, gaining expertise, for example, in occupational, clinical, counseling, and school psychology.

Learn from the Best – Our courses are taught by successful practitioners and internationally renowned researchers. Our research primarily focuses on two key areas: healthy relationships and a healthy workplace.

Your Academic Journey – Programs in Slovak and English

At the Institute of Applied Psychology, we offer bachelor's, master's, and doctoral programs designed to provide a strong foundation in psychology while equipping students with practical skills and research expertise.

Bachelor's Program in Psychology (English-taught) – Open to international students or those who prefer studying in English (tuition fees apply). The program focuses on applying psychological theories to real-world problems while developing skills in research, teamwork, and communication.

Bachelor's & Master's Programs in Slovak – Free of charge for Slovak-speaking students, with a requirement for intermediate English knowledge to stay up to date with the latest psychological research and trends. The master's program prepares students for professional careers by combining theory, research, and hands-on psychological practice.

Doctoral Program (PhD) in Psychology (Slovak/English) – Our PhD program is designed for those looking to become experts in psychological research. Doctoral students develop advanced research, publication, and teaching skills, coordinate projects, and work on solutions to socio-psychological and workplace challenges. The program is open to both Slovak and international students.
